

Bettesworths

Property advice with a difference...

In 1943, a young, ambitious female estate agent called Maureen Bettesworth, defied the convention at that time by starting a business selling property in South Devon.

Three generations and 80 years later Bettesworths remains a thriving company which still retains all the traditional core values of a family business.

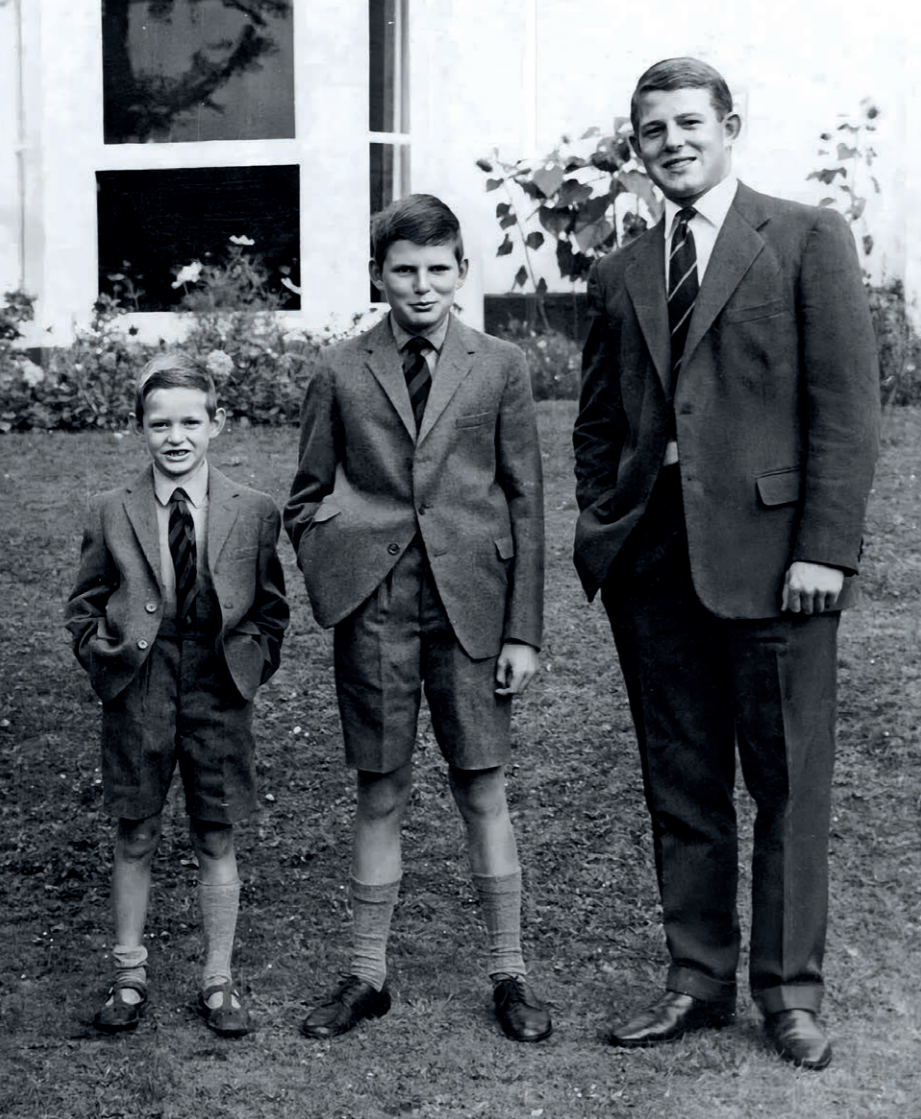

How It Began

During the challenging times Britain faced as it emerged from World War 2, Maureen Bettesworth, together with her husband Bernard set up Bettesworths in Torquay, Devon.

Maureen quickly became well known in the area due to her determined nature and an eye for a deal. Often the only female in her professional circle, she soon developed a strong reputation whilst retaining a twinkle in her eye.

The Next Generation

During the 1960's and 70's, sons Barney, Mick and Paddy joined the firm and regardless of the cyclical up and down nature of the property market, the three brothers all became experts in their chosen specialisms as well as qualifying as Chartered Surveyors.

As a result, Bettesworths excelled in both the commercial and residential property sectors whilst developing a particularly strong reputation in the hospitality sector.

Forward To The Third Generation

In 2001, Matt Bettesworth, Barney's eldest son joined the business, shortly followed by his brother Paul.

Matt and Paul have taken the business to new heights under their leadership and have succeeded in continuing to develop a business which is widely recognised as one of the leading firms of independent Chartered Surveyors and Property agents throughout the region.

With a 'work hard, play hard' ethos, Bettesworths is proud to be an employer of choice, reflecting the family values that have helped shape the company that it is today.

The Future

Matt and Paul recognise the benefit of introducing new young talent to compliment the more mature, experienced members of the team and this allied to developing teamwork and innovation has been the cornerstone of the company's progression. This philosophy has assisted the Company to endure the tough times as well as the good and will hopefully continue to apply in the future.

Despite there being no pressure to enter the property profession, family members have always had to prove their worth and as there are already 11 junior Bettsworths in the wings, who knows...

Matt and Paul Bettesworths (not forgetting Sandra and George) have been such an excellent team to work with on our purchases and sales. They provide a great service, are the most efficient communicators and give lots of help and support to conclude the deal. A fantastic organisation!

Danial Meggitt

Tom, George and Paul worked very hard, through trying times, to let our retail property in Torquay. They went above and beyond the norm to find the right tenants. Dealing with Bettesworths has been a very pleasant experience.
